

I object to the OBC (Olympic Broadcasting Company), formally known-in this household as the TBC (thieving Broadcasting Company) but better known to yourself s as the (not so)British Broadcasting Company,for the following reasons - It,s NOT worth the £159:00 Tax we have to pay because - Far Too many Repeats.

Far Too much Sport-which I DON'T pay for.

Taken off normal BBC 1 programmes to show Olympics,when it could be transmitted on BBC2 or BBC4 or better still by resurrecting BBC3.

Also,I'm disappointed that Ofcom is NOT regulating the BBC properly in that you keep allowing them to bump the TAX up every year.

I would suggest the the TBC uses BBC3 as a sports channel and charges a premium for those who actually want sports and drop the TAX to £100:00 per year for the rest of us.
